Aid-to-Britain Policy Nears Showdown

WICKARD AGAIN DEMANDS SAFE AID DELIVERY

HITS 'HALF-WAY' HELP

Germany Sends Note to State Department on Measure to Requisition Ships.

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON—Renewed cabinet emphasis on the importance of assuring the safe delivery of British aid supplies "right now" furthered the belief today that a showdown was near on the subject.

Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, some sources thought, may have indicated the way the question will be posed, when he said last night that if the United States did not intend to see that England "gets our help, let's tell her so."

Picturing British needs as "terribly urgent," Wickard told a farmers conference at Charlotte, N. C., that "it is a cruel and bitter mockery to let the English people believe we are going to make our help effective if we have only half-way measures in mind."

A question indirectly affecting British aid—the requisitioning of foreign ships idle in American ports—meanwhile had developments on two fronts.

The German government presented a note to the state department, objecting to the ship bill now pending in congress on the ground it violated both international law and the commercial treaty between the two nations.

On Capitol Hill one group of senators, indicating they felt this bill would pass, talked of seeking an amendment to the house-approved version that would prohibit

ROB DETECTIVE

2 Armed Bandits Take $6,054 Payroll From Burns Agent.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Two armed men kidnaped a Burns detective agency operator outside the Empire State building in mid-town today, robbed him of a $6,054 payroll, drove him to Long Island City and there threw him into the street before speeding away in a black sedan.

The operator, Stanley Korzynski, had just drawn the payroll from the Manufacturers Trust company branch in the Empire State building and was walking to the Mangel Stores, Inc., owners of the payroll, when one of the bandits shoved a gun against his back.

Korzynski was forced into the bandit car parked at the curb, powerless to reach for his own gun.

'Million Dollar' Rain Booms Crop Hopes of Farmers Here

A "million-dollar" rain last night and early today revived the drooping spirits of Richland county farmers and gardeners and set the stage for a good crop year in the county area.

Beginning about 6 p. m. yesterday, showers fell during the early part of the evening and there was a steady rain most of the night. Total precipitation was .61 of an inch, making almost an inch of rain for the week.

A half storm struck northern and eastern sections of the county about 6 p. m. yesterday but no damage was reported. Heavy rain was reported in the northern section of Mansfield.

Heaviest rain fell in the city shortly after 8 p. m. when a number of streets were flooded. The water soaked into the earth quickly, however, and there was no damage.

Pasture lands and early-planted crops revived overnight, and county farmers planned today to resume their plowing and planting as soon as the ground dries enough to permit use of equipment in the fields. Operations had been halted because of dry weather and fear that corn would not germinate if planted.

The temperature dropped sharply last night to a low of 43 degrees. There was a gradual rise today, but the weatherman said it will be cool tonight and Saturday with light frost possible tonight. The forecast was for scattered showers tonight and partly cloudy weather Saturday.

Alert Cameraman Catches Fiery End of 'Goodwill' Plane

Going into a sudden dive during a take off from the airport at Washington, D. C., the "good will" airplane of the Bolivian government is seen enveloped in flames after it crashed nose in, carrying with it two of Bolivia's ranking army officers, killing one and injuring the other. Airport attendants who raced to the scene are pictured pulling Capt. Alberto Taborga, aide to Bolivia's president, out of the gasoline-fed inferno. Capt. Rafael Suarez-Rivas, aide to the chief of the Bolivian air corps, died in the flames. Both officers were engaged in a 10,000-mile "good will" flight which began in New York and was to have terminated at the home field in Bolivia.

40 CAR MISHAPS HERE IN 8 DAYS

Chief Blames Carelessness on Part of Drivers; Points to Need for More Officers.

Carelessness on the part of Mansfield motorists was blamed today for approximately 40 auto accidents reported in the city in the past eight days.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates announced that the numerous collisions were "not the fault of bad driving conditions but of bad driving habits."

Two more collisions were reported within the last 24 hours. Walter Fensch, 39 Baldwin avenue, reported to police that another auto crashed into his as he was parked at Blanche and Lexington avenues shortly before 9 p. m. Another report that the same auto had hit another car at Marion and Maple avenues was also received.

In both instances, the driver failed to stop. Police were checking license numbers supplied them by a witness to one of the accidents.

In addition to the 40 collisions as compared to only 89 for the entire month of April, Bates said that eight persons had been injured so far this month, one fatally.

J. W. House, 115 Blanche street, was killed Saturday night when struck by an automobile at Blanche street and Lexington avenue.

"If we had a larger force," said Bates, "it would be possible to check more closely on traffic violations which lead to these collisions. As it is, our present force is rushed trying to keep up with only 17 persons were injured in the 89 April accidents and no fatalities were reported. The death of House was the city's first for 1941.

Paints 'Dark Picture' In Non-Defense Work

Government Spokesman Says 'Business As Usual' Can No Longer Be Expected, Sees Shortages.

(By International News Service) WASHINGTON—Manufacturers of consumer goods were handed the blunt warning today by a government spokesman that the outlook for non-defense business in America "is a dark picture, and I see no reason for pretending that it is anything else."

In fact, the present emergency is likely to bring about "priorities" in transportation to insure a steady, quick flow of vital materials to defense industries, according to Douglas C. MacKeachie, deputy director of purchase for the office of production management.

The bleak forecast was made by MacKeachie in a speech before the business advisory council of the department of commerce. In numerous speeches, MacKeachie and other OFM spokesmen recently have been "informing" the nation that it could not now expect "business as usual."

MacKeachie, however, "pulled no punches" in his latest speech. He predicted that further limitations would be placed on the average manufacturer's ability to buy materials. Under OFM priorities, defense industries now have first claim on 300 items used in manufacturing.

Quota Reached, 'Mop Up' Started By Fund Workers

Mansfield Community Fund workers were engaged in a mop up drive today, collecting scattered pledge cards unreported in the campaign which closed yesterday with the $64,375 goal oversubscribed by $3,235.

Report headquarters at the Y. M. C. A. will be open the remainder of the week for the accommodation of workers, Jane Williams, Fund executive secretary, said. Persons having pledge cards that have not been collected are asked to contact Fund headquarters regardless of whether an amount is to be pledged or not.

Of the $67,610.96 subscribed to the fund, $12,255 was received in cash, according to Mrs. Williams. All pledge cards are to be audited within the next few days by H. L. Ackerman, public accountant and year-around auditor of the Community Fund.

Monday night the Community Fund executive committee will hold a meeting with agency heads at Fund headquarters at 7:30.

CITY HITS AT WPA 'SLOWNESS'

Officials Threaten To Place Own Laborers on Water Line Project.

Aroused by the lack of progress in the construction of the $20,000 water line from Park Avenue east to Wayne street, city officials today threatened to replace WPA workers with city employees to speed the project.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton and City Engineer W. C. Statler said that the WPA force, weakened by constant demands by private industries, has been working on the project for more than three weeks. Both said that city laborers may be used to complete the project.

Following the breaking of a pipe cross-section yesterday at Third and Dorian streets, WPA laborers quit for the day. Statler said that city workers were able to work most of the day despite light rain but that no WPA laborers worked in the afternoon.

The city substituted its own workers for laying the line beneath the Park Avenue east subway. A WPA estimate planned that the work be done in a week. City workers did it in three days. The pipe cross-section broken yesterday was to have been used to connect a line to the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. Statler had planned to make the connection tomorrow morning when the plant was only

BUS DRIVERS IN MANSFIELD BACK ON JOB

Greyhound Operations Resume on Settlement of Five-Day Labor Controversy.

RUNS START AT 5 A. M.

40 Buses Serving City Go Back on Schedule; Alabama Coal Dispute Settled.

Greyhound bus service in and out of Mansfield and other Ohio cities was back to normal today after an agreement was reached in Washington to settle a five-day strike which tied up operations in eastern and middle western states.

Company officials here said the 12 Greyhound employees in Mansfield went back to work this morning and buses resumed their regular schedules at 5 a. m.

The strike tied up about 40 buses serving Mansfield daily and severed all direct bus connections between Mansfield and Columbus, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Akron, Toledo and other major cities.

Assistant Secretary of Labor Daniel W. Tracy said the agreement provides that differences between the A. F. of L. union, representing bus employees, and company officials shall be submitted to the secretary of labor who will act as arbitrator.

The union sought a pay increase from four to five cents per mile for drivers, a closed shop, and shorter working hours for terminal and maintenance workers.

Settlement of a strike in the coal industry will put 9,000 Alabama soft coal miners back to work Monday, but a machinists' strike was threatened in the San Francisco shipyards, an Associated Press dispatch said.

The Alabama coal mines have been idle since April 1. A workers' contract signed yesterday raises the basic daily pay of

MORE LADIES

Four Ohio Cities Had More Women Than Men in 1940.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The female population of four of the eight cities of over 100,000 in Ohio was greater in 1940 than the male population. Females led in Columbus, Dayton, Cincinnati, and Canton; males, in Cleveland, Akron, Toledo and Youngstown.

The commerce department reported that females in 76 of the 92 cities of over 100,000 population in the United States outnumbered the male population. In 16 of the cities the male population was predominant in 63 cities and males in 29.

The report showed the proportion of non-whites increased in seven of the eight Ohio cities between 1930 and 1940, and remained practically unchanged in Youngstown.

RAID: German, Italian Air Forces Bomb Suez Canal Area

BERLIN—(AP)—German and Italian air forces joined in an attack on the Suez Canal which lasted several hours, DNB, official German news agency said today, without explaining when the raid took place. (A dispatch from Cairo yesterday said the canal zone was raided for two hours Wednesday night.)

Not only the canal but a railway paralleling it also was bombed, the agency said, and heavy hits were scored "at numerous places" on the railway. (The British admitted damage to railway, telegraph and telephone property.)

Power houses in the canal zone were reported damaged and high

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—Reuters (British news agency) quoted the Berlin correspondent of the Swiss Basler Nachrichten today as reporting it was believed that the Vichy government had agreed to the passage of German troops through French provinces and mandated territories—including Syria.

(By The Associated Press)

Waves of British bombers—the biggest RAF smash of the war—dumped "tens of thousands" of fire-bombs and "hundreds of tons" of high explosives on Hamburg and Bremen and also attacked Berlin overnight, the British said today.

In their far-ranging expedition, RAF warplanes flew as far as Posen, Poland.

It was the RAF's longest foray since the last raids on Italy months ago, with the long-range British bombers flying at least 550 miles to reach the Posen area, or 1,100 miles round trip.

Adolf Hitler's luftwaffe again violently assaulted English cities, and sea battles were reported in both the Mediterranean and the Indian ocean.

The Germans said the British "transit port" of Hull, possibly a port of entry for American war supplies, was subjected to a major attack and that this morning the entire city (pop. 350,000) was shrouded in flame-tinged smoke.

Returning Nazi pilots declared the red glow of Hull's myriad fires could be seen 70 miles away. It was the eighth straight night of stepped-up Nazi attack on the island kingdom.

London dispatches said probably 300 to 400 planes, the largest RAF bombing armada ever assembled for a single night's raid, engaged in the sweep across Hitler's realm.

Hitler's high command, admitting "some industrial damage" by "strong enemy forces" at Hamburg and Bremen, declared:

"Individual enemy planes passed over the reich's capital and penetrated into the region of Posen. Night chasers and anti-aircraft guns downed 11 of the attacking planes."

Nazi quarters said no bombs fell in Berlin, but it was acknowledged that a "considerable number" of deaths resulted elsewhere in Germany.

The British air ministry news service said the Hamburg-Bremen attacks, carried out in "bright moonlight," saw the RAF "streaming over both cities in a constant procession and discharging their whole loads on appointed targets."

RAF pilots told of whole areas engulfed in "a mass of flames"

PEACEFUL: Japan Planning To Slow China Hostilities

(By United Press) TOKYO — Government leaders, abandoning hope of crushing China by armed force, are considering a revision of policy under which the scale of hostilities would be reduced and every effort made to promote peaceful conditions and improved trade in Chinese areas now under Japanese control, it was indicated today.

Intimation that the government might soon alter its Chinese policy was given by the Japan Times and Advertiser, a mouthpiece of the foreign office, from which it receives a subsidy.

"Ideas of overcoming this maelstrom of nations (China) must have little more appeal, even to the most sanguine of soldierly minds," it said.

Soon after the publication of this editorial, it became known that Kunitaro Honda, ambassador to the Japanese-sponsored Nanking regime in China, was coming here next week for conferences on China policy.

The Nanking regime was set up by Japan in an attempt to undermine the Chinese government. It purports to administer Japanese-occupied territory in the name of the Chinese people.

The Times and Advertiser was the medium by which, on April 30, a world "peace plan" was published here which would have given Germany complete domination of Europe and Japan complete domination of the Far East.

EDUCATION COST IN RICHLAND'S SCHOOLS DOWN

State Says $85.05 Per Pupil Expense One of Lowest In Ohio Survey.

Cost of educating boys and girls in schools of the Richland county system was $85.05 per pupil during the 1939-40 school term, ranking the county among the most economical in the state in the operation of its schools, according to the Ohio State University bureau of educational research.

Cost in Crawford county was the highest in the state at $125.36 per pupil, the report showed. Lowest per capita cost was $71 in Jackson county in Southern Ohio. The state average was $90 per pupil.

Richland county's transportation cost per pupil was $26.49, one of the highest in the state.

Boyd Robinson, county superintendent, explained that the high transportation expenses were due to the topography of the county which makes it necessary to limit the size of school buses and have more of them.

The eastern and southern sections of the county are hilly, making it impossible to operate large buses and difficult to map short routes, Robinson said.

In Crawford county, Supt. Glen West pointed out that the instruction cost is $73.71 per pupil there as compared to only $48.31 in Richland county. He said Crawford county requires more teachers because the county's smaller schools are offering subjects usually taught in much larger centers.

Education costs per pupil increased in Ohio last year, climbing from $86 in 1937-38 and $83 in 1938-39, the report showed.

Cost of educating pupils in other nearby counties last year included:

I said to Ferrell Hipp, the Moose and Bissman kegler, "Hippy, you used to play ball at Seacalum park with Jim Thorpe, didn't you? You ought to know some good yarns about the old Indian."

"Sure I do," responded Hipp. "But most of them you couldn't use. He was a wild redskin when he was on a rampage, but a bigger-hearted man of any color you couldn't find."

"I'll never forget the day I first met him," continued Hipp. "When I went to the hotel to dress for the game, I was told I was to share a room with Thorpe. 'What Thorpe?' I asked. 'Jim Thorpe,' they told me, and you could have knocked me over with a whisper. 'All my life, it seemed, I'd been reading and hearing about the great Indian, and now I had him for a roommate. What was it going to be like?'"

"I walked upstairs, knocked, and opened the door. There was the big redskin sprawled on the bed. 'I guess I'm supposed to dress in here,' I told him. 'Well, come on in, Porky,' he retorted. And from that day to this I am still Porky to Jim Thorpe."

"Jim made a lot of money in his day, but he never had any. He spent it or gave it away as fast as he got it, and he didn't have a nickel when he was through, but he was a high-priced man right down to the end of his career."

"As old as he was in those Seacalum park days, he was making $100 a game and I was making $15. Finally we started losing money and Chick Skelly, the manager, told Jim he'd have to cut him to $75."

"Not old Jim," says Thorpe. "Old Jim can't play for less than $100."

"But we're losing money and we can't afford to pay you more than $75," Shelly told him. "I know it, Chick," says Thorpe. "And you've been paying me more than I'm worth, but when old Jim has to play for less than $100, old Jim quits."

"And he did, too!"

"Jim was operating a kennel of hunting dogs at Larue at that time, and when he left the team he told me:

"Porky, if you don't come down and pick out the best hound I've got for a gift, I'll kill you."

"He was just that determined to give away the best things he had to his friends."

Fourth Golf Win Chalked

Mansfield High Swingers Blank Mt. Vernon Team.

Mansfield High's fast stepping public swingers marked up their fourth straight decisive victory of the golf season yesterday when they blanked Mt. Vernon at Possum Run, 24 to 0.

As usual, Al Hager paced Coach Oberlander's divot diggers with a two-under-par 70, but he had company under that 80 mark. Davis had a 77, Hager a 78 and Collins a 79. Konjenovich was right on the 80 and Rudolph had an 87.

Lombard and Hill had 81's for Mt. Vernon. Thomas an 88, Humphreys a 92, Wernick a 93, and Kitray a 95.

Earlier in the week the Mansfield team scored a 15.5 win at Millersburg. Today they are scheduled at Galion and tomorrow meet Western at Possum Run.

Crowd of 10,000 to See Game

Hallabrin at Fullback in Grid Clinic Tilt.

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio State's "Pigskin Preview of 1941" goes on display Saturday afternoon as Coach Paul Brown's Buckeyes battle in a regulation distance intra-squad game before a crowd of paying customers expected to exceed 10,000.

Close to 500 Ohio high school coaches will be in the stands as guests of the university newspapermen from all over the state will "cover" the contest, color motion pictures will be taken of all action, and radio station WHIO will broadcast the affair, a portion going over the Mutual network.

The game, which Brown said "will go a long way toward determining our starting lineup for next fall," will climax the university's annual grid clinic for scholastic coaches. The clinic started today with more than 100 coaches present. The previous "tops" in attendance was 135.

At today's sessions the visitors were to see pictures of the 1940 Michigan-Ohio State disaster, and hear discourses by all members of the university coaching staff on various angles of football.

"In a two-day clinic it's impossible for us to get into every portion of football," Brown said, "but the matters we do take up will be fully covered."

Following today's sessions, most of which were to center around the various football blocks, the coaches will be guests of the university at a dinner tonight. The Ohio High School Coaches' association will hold its annual meeting and election Saturday noon before attending the game.

On the opposing second squad are Charley Anderson and Sam Fox at ends; Jim Daniel and Charles Czuri at tackles; Harold Dean and Dor Stenberg at guards; Earl Martin at center; and Dick Palmer, Dick Fisher, and Bill Durtzsch and Johnny Hallabrin in the backfield.

Backing up each team is a full squad, each having a definite time to go in as a substitute, thus giving every boy on the varsity squad a chance to show his wares. First team substitutes will come from the fourth team, while the third stringers are backing up the second.

Boxing Show Booked May 21

Opponents For Glover and Jones Hard to Find.

Sam Saprano and his associates in promoting Mansfield's first professional boxing show in years, have discovered that suitable opponents for such top swinging punchers as Honeyboy Jones and Beauford Glover are hard to find at the price which Mansfield can afford to pay.

But Sam declared today that he was on the right track, and he expects to have a card lined up within a few days. Meanwhile the show has been postponed from next Thursday until Wednesday, May 21.

"We could have gotten boys at the right weight for Jones and Glover easily enough," Saprano said, "but we expect professional boxing in Mansfield to live or die on the strength of this opening card, and we are insisting that opponents for the Honeyboy and Beau-Beau be good enough to give these home town favorites a real battle."

"We already have had orders for 25 ringside seats for the show, including an order of 12 first row duets from Ashland, and the interest displayed by fans since we first announced plans for a card has encouraged us to line up a real program for this first show."

Association Runs In Slow Motion

(By Associated Press)
A combination of open dates, bad weather and tie games is converting the American Association race into a slow motion affair. Since Sunday only five contests have been played and one of those ended in a tie.

Kansas City, which went 12 innings to no decision with Columbus Wednesday, played 10 more yesterday before it won, 5 to 4. Kansas City got only one hit off Harry Brecheen until the eighth when it rallied four times to tie the score. But Mothery hit a home run two innings later to cap the belated rally with victory.

The overtime battle, only Association game played yesterday, left Kansas City a half game behind Louisville and enabled it to break its second place tie with Minneapolis.

Cold weather cancelled the other games.

Dodgers Strike Streak

Hot Flatbush Combine Blasts Cardinals.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(AP Sports Writer)

THE swashbuckling Brooklyn Dodgers have taken complete command of the National league and right now are hot enough to single a sheet of asbestos.

They have faced every other club in the circuit at Ebbets field during their past 15 games and won 13 of them. They captured three out of four from the world champion Cincinnati Reds last week and now they have swept a two-game series from the St. Louis Cardinals.

The climax to this sensational stand came yesterday in the shape of a 5-4, 12-inning triumph over the Redbirds while a ladies day crowd of 32,039 watched between hysteria and boredom.

There was a lot of fireworks right at the start as the Dodgers punched out a four-run lead in the first two frames and lost it in the next two. Then husky Mort Cooper and slender Kemp Wicker, Brooklyn relief workers, settled down to a dull, airtight pitching struggle for seven innings until, with two out in the 12th, Joe Medwick beat out a single to third baseman Jim Brown and went to second as Brown overthrew first. Then Cookie Lavagetto, who had doubled two runs across in the first, singled Medwick home.

The victory gave the Dodgers a game and a half margin in first place and exposed the Cardinals as a dangerous but disorganized array. St. Louis outfielders collided on two different fly balls and the infield proved porous.

The Dodgers moved to Philadelphia today and from there will head west Monday with the other eastern clubs. The Dodgers were the best road team in the league last year, winning 47 and losing 28 away from home.

In the only other game yesterday in the senior circuit, Vern Olsen scattered 10 hits and smacked a three-run homer to lead the Chicago Cubs to a 5-1 decision over the Phillies. The only run against him was a round-tripper by Danny Litwiler in the eighth.

In the American league the New York Yankees took another cut out of the Cleveland Indians' lead with a 5-4 victory in a slug-fest session.

The Washington Senators muzzled the Detroit Tigers, 7-1, with a 14-hit offensive to back up the six-hit hurling of Steve Sundra. Cecil Travis supplied a home run and a triple for the Awards were presented by Lloyd Barr of Mansfield, president of the Crawford County as-fish-fighters neighborhood

TRAP SHOOT BOOKED BY BUCYRUS CLUB

BUCYRUS—Bucyrus Gun club officials today announced a trap shoot to be held at the club next Sunday.

Charles E. Nichols, Bellefontaine shooter and past president of the Ohio State Trapshooters association, will be a guest of honor and will be given No. 1 position in squad No. 1 for the first shoot at 11 a. m.

Sponsors of the shoot are the Bucyrus, Wyandot and Marion Gun clubs. Profits will be given to the state association for a purse fund for the 1941 shoot in Columbus in June.

Crawford Coon Chase Booked

First Meet In Galion Vicinity Scheduled.

GALION—The Crawford County Coon Hunters' association will hold its second Coon Chase of the season, Sunday, May 11, on the Otto Pfeiffer farm, one-half mile south of Galion on the South street road. The chase will start at noon and last throughout the remainder of the day.

R. W. Stall, president of the association says that this is the first coon chase ever to be held in Galion vicinity, and a large crowd is expected to attend. Louis Helfrich will have his public address system there to keep everybody informed of the activities that are taking place.

Many of the finest dogs in Ohio and surrounding states will compete for a guaranteed purse. The dogs have all been trained to perfection and will put on an excellent exhibition.

Lunch and refreshments will be served on the grounds. Proceeds from the chase will be used to buy coon and pheasants to restock the county. Through the cooperation of sportsmen in surrounding communities in these coon chases, the association has been able to release 284 coon and 50 pheasants in the last two years. Women and children are admitted free and a small admission charge is made for the men.

Senators. It was the fourth loss for Buck Newsum, who lasted only till the fourth inning.

Pete Suder hit a home run with two on in the eighth to provide the Philadelphia Athletics a 9-6 margin over the St. Louis Browns. Bump Hadley, onetime Yankee who won a game in the National league for the New York Giants last month, made his first start since returning to the junior circuit and was credited with the victory, although relieved in the ninth. He served two home-run balls to George McQuinn.

Feller Acts as Fireman

Comes To Rescue of Faltering Tribe.

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — Whenever the Cleveland Indians go into a slump, some fan invariably comes up with this optimistic remark:

"The team can't lose many in a row — Bob Feller pitches every fourth day."

The Redskins dropped three consecutive starts, including a 5 to 4 defeat by New York yesterday, so it was up to Feller to beat the Browns today in the opener of a four-game series. Bob has five victories so far. Vernon Kennedy was the St. Louis pitching choice.

The tussles with the Browns inaugurated a 14-game trip that will take the Indians through the east. Roger Peckinpaugh's club compiled a record of 10 victories and three defeats in its home stand.

The second setback from the Yankees slashed the Indians' first place margin to three and a half games. Southpaw Al Smith, was charged with the defeat because the Indians were behind when he gave way to Joe Hoving. The latter, however, allowed the two runs that won the game. Mel Harder and Clint Brown held the New Yorkers scoreless the last three innings.

Pitcher Red Ruffing slapped a single, double and home run to drive in three of the New York runs. He received credit for the decision, although Johnny Murphy had to relieve him in the seventh.

The Indians plated two runs in the fifth on singles by Ken Keltner, Lou Boudreau and Gerry Walker, coupled with a walk and Jeff Heath's fly to left field. The following inning they added two more on a base on balls and Keltner's left-field home run.

The Yanks opened scoring in the first on Phil Rizzuto's double and Charley Keller's single, added two home runs in the second, on Gerry Priddy's double and Ruffing's homer and produced single tallies in the fifth and sixth.

Eight Records Set In Meet

Junior High Trackmen Chalk Up New Marks.

No less than eight new meet records were chalked up yesterday afternoon at Stadium field as Johnny Appleseed trackmen edged John Simpson by two points, 55 to 53½.

Smith of Appleseed clipped five and a half seconds off the old mark for the 880-yard run, wheeling the distance in 2:14.5.

Bob Moorehead of Appleseed crashed through with two new records when he tossed the shot 41 feet, 9 inches, and flung the discus 103 feet, 9 inches. The old marks were 32 feet, 10 inches for the shot put, and 95 feet, 7½ inches for the discus.

Johnson of Simpson crumpled three-tenths of a second off the 120-yard low hurdles mark when he topped the timber in 16.2. Schmidt of Simpson cut two full seconds from the 440-yard dash record as he broke the tape in 57.5.

Hammon of Simpson won the 220-yard dash in 25 seconds to slice six-tenths of a second off the old mark, and Crownover of Simpson high-jumped five feet, three inches to add the three inches to the previous record.

The Simpson 880-yard relay team of Hammon, Bauer, Browning and Schmidt made the circuit in 1:46.3. The old record was 1:48.

NEW NOVEL AT LIBRARY DEALS WITH ENGLAND

'This Above All' Tells Story of Soldier Who Intended To Desert Army.

"This Above All," Eric Knight's novel of England today is among the new books now in circulation at Mansfield Public Library.

Knight has written a story of a man who had been through Dunkerque and who intended to desert. Primarily it is the love story of a man and woman who, under the tragic circumstances of war, broke through the barrier of heritage.

The characters in the novel seem real and the plot contains its full measure of drama and adventure.

Other books now available include:

IN MY FATHER'S HOUSE by James Street is a simple story of the deep South of today, a story of a father and his 13-year-old son and of their unique comradeship. Hob Abernathy wasn't a rich man, even by Laurel, Mississippi standards, but he found life good. And though tragedy entered their lives, he was proud of his farm and of his family, and particularly of "Little Hob," to whom he told all he knew about life and nature and the farm animals.

THEY WENT ON TOGETHER by Robert Nathan, author of Portrait of Jennie, tells of an ordinary family who, with the rest of their townfolk, are being forced to evacuate their homes. The story centers around the young son, Paul, to whom the evacuation at first seems as unreal as a dream—as it does, to Sylvie the girl whom he finds by the roadside. But one by one the grim events begin to leave their marks, and the result is a story deep with pathos and tenderness.

OTHER FICTION: OUT OF THIS FURNACE by Bell; CARELESS HANGMAN by Morland; DEATH AT THE HELM by Street.

AMERICAN FICTION, 1920-1940 by Joseph W. Beach is a brilliant collection of essays which should be of interest to the increasing number of people who enjoy and want to know more about the most recent American novels. Prof. Beach shows, as well, the place of Dos Passos, Hemingway, Faulkner, Caldwell, Wolfe, Marquand, Farnel and Steinbeck—among the more conventional novelists of today.

NATURE AND DESTINY OF MAN by Reinhold Niebuhr is composed of a group of lectures on human nature which were delivered at the University of Edinburgh and which attempt to interpret human nature from the perspective of Christian faith. A second volume, on human destiny will follow. Partial contents: The easy conscience of modern man—Man as a sinner—Original sin and man's responsibility.

CLOWNING THROUGH BASEBALL by Al Schacht is a warm, humorous tale of the author's life and of the last 35 years of baseball as only "The Clown Prince of Baseball" can tell it. The great players of the past and present move with life and gusto through its pages.

IN GREAT WATERS by Josef

Berger is a crisp, spirited picture of seafaring along the Massachusetts coast, and of the husky Portuguese characters who carry it on. It is a story of fishing and whaling off New England from the beginnings, even before Columbus's day, and teams with yarns of rough days at sea, gleaned from old memoirs and logs, and with stories gathered first-hand from living seamen.

This week the library is adding five books which are included in the Teachers' Reading Circle list for 1941-42. Others on the list are already available. SCIENCE FOR THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL TEACHER by Craig; IT'S NICE TO KNOW PEOPLE LIKE YOU by Hepner; TEACHER AND COMMUNITY by Stout; FUNDAMENTALS OF DEMOCRATIC EDUCATION by Ulich; INTEGRATED HANDWORK FOR ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS by N. J. Clark.

Other non-fiction: POLITICAL PROPAGANDA by Bartlett; BIOGRAPHY OF THE GODS by Haydon; R. A. F. IN ACTION; SIXTY ACRES MORE OR LESS by Lent; ART IN EVERYDAY LIFE by Goldstein.

LOSES HOUSE MID REDDING, Cal.—(UPI)—Jack Clark's hopes of going to one of California's penitentiaries instead of back to the reform school were scratched by his father. He had served one term in a reform school. So, when he was arrested on a theft charge he insisted he was 22 and therefore eligible for the "big house." But his father shattered his hopes by establishing he was only 17.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

Summer vacation activities dominate two new books for children available at the Mansfield Public Library. One story concerns a young girl vacationing in Portugal and the other deals with adventurous children and the games that they play.

THREE SECRETS by M. Josephine Smith—Melissa was looking for a good story to write about her summer vacation so she might enter it in a school contest. She was visiting in Portugal when she found herself in the midst of a serious plot, but she couldn't tell whether it would be solved in time to give a true ending to her story before the contest ended.

THE BIG SIX, by Arthur Ransome—Those who have read Mr. Ransome's other books will be eager for this one. Those adventurous children they have met before in The Coot club are now calling themselves The Big Six like the Big Five of Scotland Yard because they are tracking down a villain.

FEWER WEEDS LAFAYETTE, Ind.—(UPI)—Better seeds mean fewer weeds, according to Oliver C. Lee, Purdue University botanist, in a warning to farmers and gardeners getting ready for spring planting.

400 BRITISH PLANES BLAST NAZI CITIES

Bombers Center Heaviest Blow on Hamburg and Bremen as Germans Raid Hull.

A violent attack on a strongly escorted British convoy somewhere in the western Mediterranean.

A Fascist war bulletin said that torpedo and bomb hits were scored on two British battleships, an aircraft carrier, two cruisers, a destroyer and three merchant ships, and that 16 British planes were shot down by Axis airmen in the running fight which started yesterday afternoon and raged into the night.

The communiqué acknowledged the loss of five Italian planes, with three others damaged, with wounded aboard. It did not claim any of the British ships were sunk, but asserted that torpedo-shooting planes registered repeated hits.

In the now fiercely intensified aerial siege of Britain, RAF fighters and Hurricanes knifed into formations of Nazi raiders throughout the night.

The London air ministry news service said one RAF squadron attacked "a wave of enemy bombers coming in from the sea" on the east coast and in 45 minutes "sent six crashing down and damaged others."

Destruction of the many German night bombers, it was said, "cost the Luftwaffe at least another 50 airmen."

A German aviator was reported turned into a "human torch" as he parachuted to earth on an English golf course after his plane had been shot down in flames.

The Germans acknowledged that the RAF had struck heavily at Hamburg and Bremen, but said strong defenses had dispersed the attackers and lessened the effectiveness of the raids. They reported five British planes downed.

Hitler's bombers singled out the Humber Estuary for the second successive night, and a port—probably Hull—was reported to have sustained damage and casualties that would prove heavy.

London was bombed for the first time since April 19, and a few casualties were reported during the four-hour alarm.

Clear weather and moonlight skies aided the Nazi raiders in spotting their targets, but also helped keen-eyed RAF fighter pilots find their quarry.

The 12 Nazi warplanes claimed last night brought to 50 the total reported shot down since dusk Wednesday. Twenty-four were claimed Wednesday night—a new record for one night's operations—and 14 yesterday in daylight.

With fighting in Iraq entering its eighth day, Captain James Roosevelt, U. S. marine corps observer, arriving in Cairo from Basra, expressed belief the trouble in Iraq is "deep seated and is not likely to be cleared up in a few days."

Captain Roosevelt said the British appeared to have the Iraq situation well in hand, adding that the fighting was not serious—being confined to localized skirmishing. He said German airmen were reported to be piloting American-made planes in the Iraq air force.

Egyptian newspaper reports, which remained unconfirmed, said Premier Rashid Ali Al Gailani, who seized leadership a month ago in Iraq, had fled Baghdad in the face of public demonstrations against his government.

In the far east, Thailand and French Indo-China signed a Japanese sponsored peace treaty at Tokyo implementing the March 11 settlement of their long border warfare.

During the ceremony French Ambassador Charles Arsene Henry greeted Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka as a "peace maker."

One article of the pact specified that "if any dispute arises in the future concerning this treaty it shall be submitted to Japan's mediation."

The treaty changed the essential point of the March 11 agreement by returning to the French the island of Khong in the Mekong river, which had been given to Thailand.

Thailand agreed to pay India 6,000,000 piastres for ceded territory, believed to include about 25,000 square miles.

Iraq Gets U. S. Planes Valued at Million

WASHINGTON—The United States has ordered nearly $1,000,000 worth of airplanes and equipment to Iraq.

The state department supplied the figure today when asked to comment on a statement by Cairo Egypt, by Captain James Roosevelt, that German airmen were reported to be flying American-made planes as part of the Iraq air force.

Export of planes to Iraq amounted to $529,963 during 1940 and in addition there were small amounts of aerial gun equipment.

Only aircraft parts and spare parts, amounting to about $500,000, have been sent to Iraq for the year, figures showed.

JAIL SOLDIER

GALION—Galion police held the second army deserter in the past two weeks at city jail today. Giving his name as Thomas E. Evans, 28, private in the 5th transportation squadron from Boston to Patterson Field, Ohio, when he left his company, without leave. He was attempting to be admitted to City hospital when police arrested him. Fort Hayes authorities at Columbus were notified.

RESUME WORK

Settlement Reached in Labor Dispute at Packard Plant.

WARREN—(UP)—Production of cable wires for airplanes and tanks was resumed today at the Packard electric division of the General Motors corporation after settlement of a week-long strike.

The United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (CIO) last night ratified an agreement which eliminated wage differentials in several classifications of employment, the wire mill and rubber department along with other concessions from the company.

DEMANDS SAFE AID DELIVERY

Wickard Pictures Limit Needs as 'Terribly Urgent' in Charlotte Talk.

The transfer of seized Axis vessels to England. Such a ban was voted down in the house.

The administration has not indicated its plans for disposition of the ships, if they are taken over, but the belief is that their requisitioning would make more tonnage available to Britain, either by releasing up to the equivalent in American shipping space, or by direct transfer.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), an administration critic, said he would support the bill if it barred direct transfers, which he claimed "would be directly provocative of war" and an invitation to "reprisals on American property that might be very provocative."

The German note, as far as could be learned, did not raise this question, but confined itself to asserting that the legislation, if enacted, would infringe German rights by authorizing seizure of German ships without consent of the Nazi government.

Wickard's speech last night was the seventh on the "deliver-the goods" theme to be made by cabinet officers in recent weeks. Wickard himself started the series on April 24, and since then Secretary of State Hull, Secretary of War Stimson, Secretary of Navy Knox and Secretary of Commerce Jones have spoken, Knox on two occasions.

The agriculture department chief made no mention of convoys, but he said that "it is plain that England will not survive if American munitions and food do not reach her in ever-increasing quantities."

Congressional opinion was split sharply on the urgency of protection, and part of the dispute centered over the significance of maritime commission figures showing the reported loss of only eight out of the 205 ships that sailed from American ports during the first three months of the year.

SEEK INCREASE

25,000 Truck Drivers Want Wage Increase.

COLUMBUS—(UP)—The Ohio Highway Drivers council prepared today to demand pay increases for more than 25,000 over-the-road truck drivers in Ohio.

Council officials have asked the 35 Ohio locals to send delegates to a conference at Cleveland next month. General Organizer Edward E. Murphy of Cleveland said the council will consider wage terms only. Other contract provisions will be determined by the central area committee, which includes 17 states.

Drivers now receive 75 cents an hour for a 60-hour week except at Cleveland where 85 cents is paid and Toledo, where the scale is 80 cents.

partially in operation. He announced today that it would now be impossible to make the connection until late next week.

In more than three weeks of work the WPA crew has only laid pipe from the subway to Doran and Third streets and along Doran to Fifth, the officials pointed out. The connection at Westinghouse, the installation of a pressure-reducing valve at Jeanette avenue, extension of the line on Fifth street to Wayne and a connection with the city's water system at Orange street and First avenue, remain to be done.

Probe of Ohio WPA Fading

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Prospects of a senate committee investigation of Ohio WPA administration dimmed today.

The senate Wednesday approved a resolution by Sen. Arch Barrett (D., Montgomery) providing for an investigation of all forms of relief administration and distribution, but Lieut. Gov. Paul M. Herbert pointed out that the life of a committee created by resolution expires with adjournment of the legislature. Ohio's legislature is expected to adjourn within the next two weeks.

There were indications that Herbert was not in sympathy with the inquiry, which cannot start until he names the committee.

It was understood that Sen. James Meitzenbaum (D., Cuyahoga) sought the investigation and desired to direct it against WPA activities in Cuyahoga county. The inquiry first was proposed by Sen. H. T. Phillips (A., Athens), who later withdrew his sponsorship and Barrett took over.

miners from $4 to $6, the dispatch said.

The shipyard walk-out, set for midnight tonight, involves 2,400 A. F. of L. machinists in the Bethlehem shipyard and five shop repair plants. Workers in the union are asking $1.15 an hour and double pay for overtime. They are receiving $1 an hour.

There were strong indications from the national defense mediation board that an agreement might be near in the contract dispute between the CIO United Automobile Workers and General Motors corporation. The firm's 61 plants employ about 160,000 workers, and the union is asking a 10 cent increase in hourly pay rates. Company officials said existing rates averaged slightly more than $1 an hour, but a union representative said he didn't believe the average was that high.

Morton, former head of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee (CIO) at Republic, pleaded guilty to the destruction charge, admitting he "accidentally" ripped a banner carried by an A. F. of L. unionist picketing a job on which he was employed.

SAYS BUSINESS OUTLOOK DARK

Federal Spokesman Predicts Priorities in Transportation, Material Shortages.

"As far as many purchases are concerned, the free market is gone for the duration of the emergency," MacKeechie declared. "That is going to be a hard thing for the business man to adjust himself to, but it is absolutely necessary."

"We are very likely to have priorities on transportation; if the business man faces difficulties in the way of buying when and as he wishes to buy, he also faces difficulties in the way of shipments."

Diversion of various materials into defense production probably will force manufacturers of consumer goods to "cut down on the number of styles, sizes, models and colors on many different items," MacKeechie continued.

"All this may sound like a very dark picture," he added. "Frankly, it is a dark picture, and I can see no reason for pretending that it is anything else. Business is going to be carried on under difficult circumstances. In very few particulars will it be like ordinary, peace-time business-as-usual."

MacKeechie expressed confidence, however, that American business "will meet the challenge" and survive the crisis at it has other periods of emergency in American history.

HOLMES VOTERS GO TO POLLS ON SCHOOL LEVY

Paint District Will Decide Issue at Special Election June 3.

MILLERSBURG — Voters of Paint Rural School district will be asked to vote upon a special tax levy for erection of a grade school building at Winesburg at a special election to be held Tuesday, June 3.

The proposed levy is for 2.1 mills and if voted favorably will run for a period of three years. The levy will raise $7,500 for a new grade building.

Members of the school board of that district think the passing of the levy is most necessary as the grade building has been condemned by the state fire marshal. The electric wiring and the heating system were cited in the marshal's report.

The tax levy was submitted at the general election last fall and was defeated nearly 2-1. Since that time the building has been condemned.

Major Ralph R. Bush, field artillery executive officer and Major Frederick G. Cain, infantry instructor of the Akron Military District, will address the Millersburg Rotary club at a meeting Tuesday evening in Fisher's dining room.

They will also show a movie depicting some of the recent developments in the army. Harold E. Kuhn, club president said. Monroe Mast is in charge of the meeting. Common Pleas Judge R. B. Putnam, former Captain of Field Artillery in the first World war and other local men will be guests.

Holmes County Joel Pomerene Memorial hospital will join with other hospitals throughout the nation on Monday in the observance of "National Hospital Day."

The hospital will be open for visitors and inspection by the public between the hours of 1:30 p. m. and 4:30 p. m. It was announced by Miss Neva Pew, superintendent.

Miss Edythe Low, secretary of Holmes chapter of the American Red Cross is suffering from a fractured left arm as the result of a fall at her home on South Alexandria street while engaged in housecleaning.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, MAY 9, 1941.

Twentieth century civilization is based on deferred payments.

Some things must be taken on faith—as, for instance, the statement that much gold is buried at Fort Knox.

It's odd, but it seems that more ability is required of a "dollar a year man" in government service than is needed to get a $10,000 a year appointment.

Community Fund Passes Goal

ONCE AGAIN the people of Mansfield have responded, in characteristic manner, to the call of the Community Chest for voluntary contributions sufficient to carry the work of eleven essential welfare, humanitarian and character building agencies through another year.

The goal fixed as the minimum to meet requirements has been passed by several thousand dollars and the men and women who, as campaign workers, gave so liberally of time and effort during the past ten days, have the satisfaction that comes with realization that a task has been well done.

Residents of Mansfield have many reasons to feel proud of the city in which they live, and high among these reasons is the way in which a vast majority of the people of this community respond to calls for contributions to all worthy causes—as, for instance, the Community Fund, the Red Cross, various relief activities and support of projects intended for civic betterment.

Congratulations to everyone who participated in the Community Fund campaign, and expression of appreciation of their work, should also include commendation of the many thousands of Mansfielders who exemplify the teaching, "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

Slugs In Parking Meters

UNLESS the city of Mansfield already has a "conscience fund" it will probably have some such contributions coming in soon.

"Conscience payments" are those sent in by persons who experience a feeling of guilt because of some dishonest act in the past. Years sometimes pass before the person yields to nagging conscience and attempts to regain his or her self respect.

Whether the dishonesty involves a few cents or many dollars, the racking of conscience seems much alike, so it appears not unlikely that some of those Mansfield persons who have been operating parking meters with worthless slugs instead of coins will sooner or later become "conscience fund" contributors of the amount dishonestly withheld.

As the final coin inserted in a parking meter remains in sight until another has been deposited, use of slugs also requires the follow-up of a penny to conceal the slug, which may appear to be more effort than the "saving" justifies. In any event, aside from the severe penalty prescribed for use of slugs, second thought is suggested to those who have indulged in this petty dishonesty.

No Refuge From Troublous Times

ANYBODY who dreams of escaping from the horrors of this so-called civilized world by withdrawing to some South sea paradise may as well give up the idea. It has been tried and it doesn't work. Mrs. Hester Parsons, an American woman, who several years ago fled from the depression with her husband and two daughters to the paradise of Tahiti, has returned home disillusioned.

There have been six revolutions in Tahiti in the last eight months. Mrs. Parsons reports. The islands are French. When France fell, political factions developed, with quarrels between Petain and de Gaulle sympathizers, and rioting among the natives and duels among the French nearly every day. It took nearly a year, after the ladies decided to come back home, until they could find a ship, and when they set sail, they ran into terrible storms and the trip to San Francisco took 42 days. They carried a cargo of live pigs and lived on them when the pigs died.

This country, however deplorable in such matters as weather, politics, strikes, and so on, seems to beat the island paradises in various other ways. Even the abnormal troubles we have been heading into may not be so discommoding as duels at sunrise over differences of political opinion.

Honest Little Finland

FINLAND is ready now to resume payments on its World War debt to the United States. An arrangement has been made whereby it will pay in ten annual installments, with interest at three per cent, the $235,398 semi-annual installment which it failed to pay last December 15. The first payment on the new contract will be made in June.

Because of a joint resolution of congress which authorized postponement, Finland is not technically in default. Furthermore, of the $8,126,622 it owes this country, only a part has come due.

Finland has been making tremendous efforts to heal its wounds and get back to full-time self-support and normal life. It must take considerable voluntary self-sacrifice on the part of many Finns to enable the government to resume payment on such obligations.

Educating Today's Children

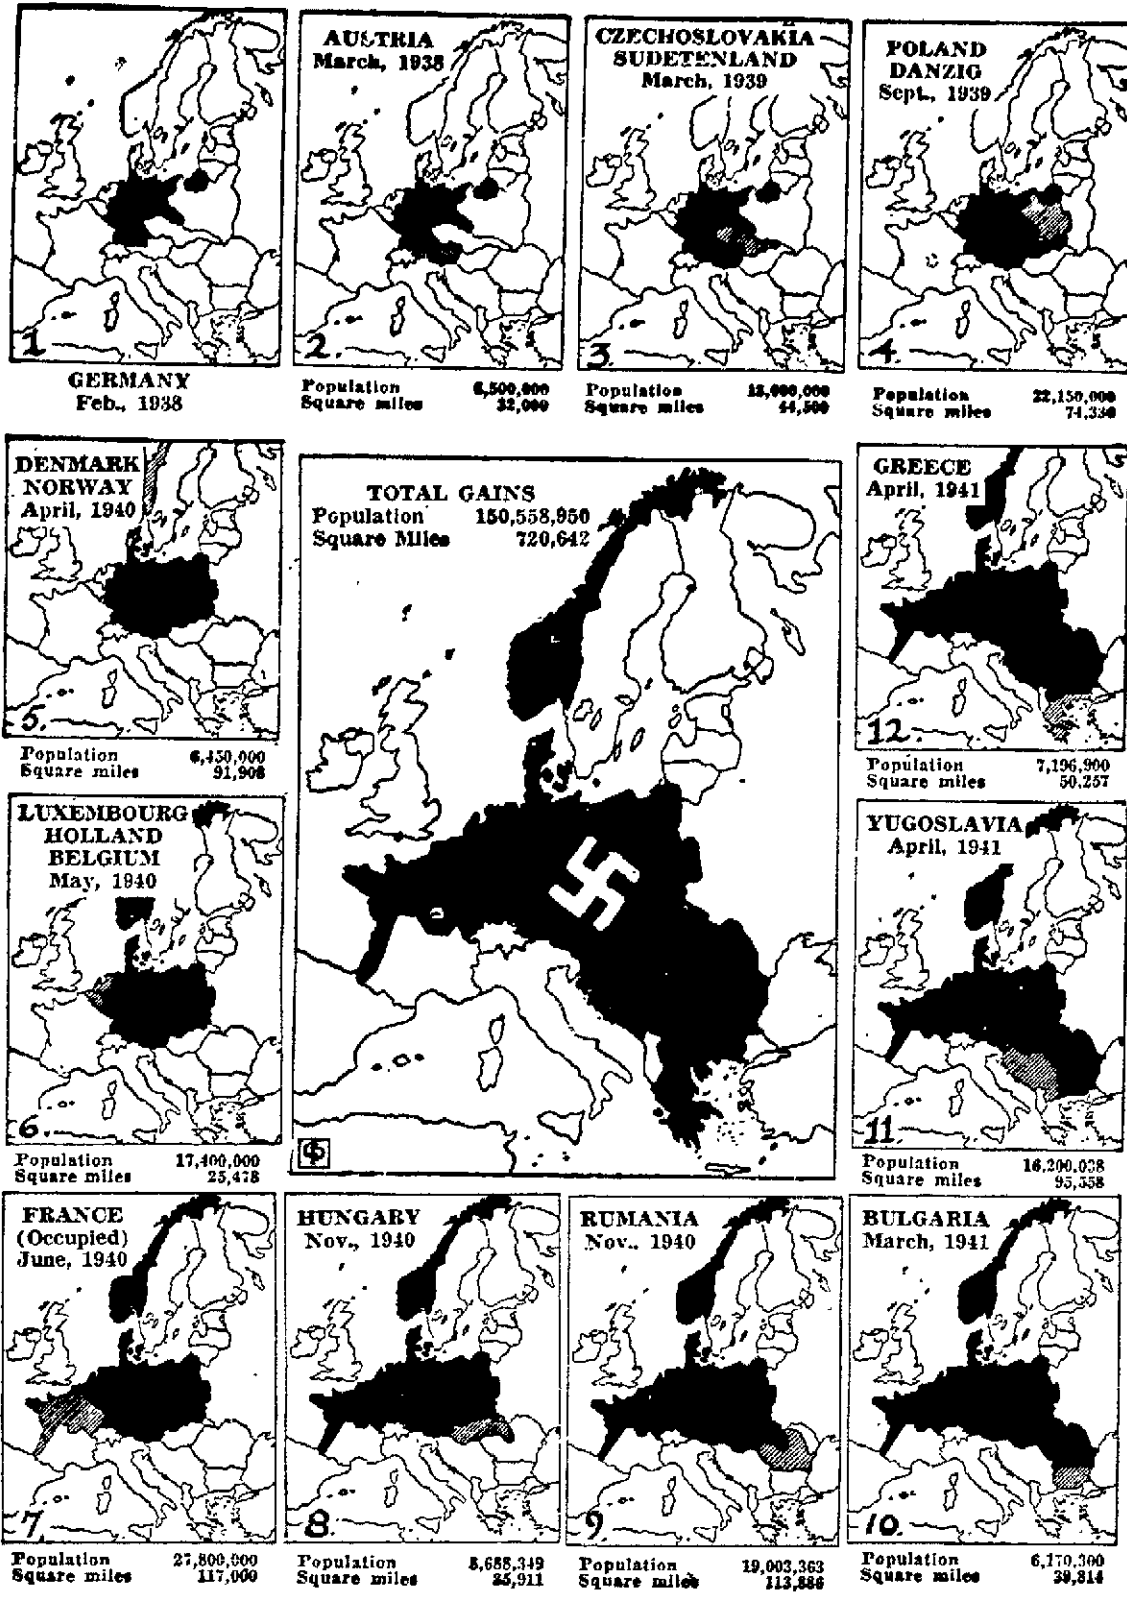

AT A RECENT MEETING of educators these charges were brought: against present-day educational methods: "Expecting amateur learners to choose wisely what and how they should learn; belittling basic skills; preferring novelty to seasoned educational values; spurning vocational training; stressing play and spurious deliberation, to the detriment of developing intellect and work habits; denying the right of the child to the direction of more experienced adults; conducting disorganized programs and disorderly classrooms; never developing or maintaining a well-defined program."

Some parents may say that there's considerable truth in the charges. These present-day children are bright, and can learn, and many of them get excellent educations. But observant parents often wonder whether their attention and interest are not spread too thinly over too many subjects; whether they are getting enough fundamental things.

Experiments are said to be progressing toward production of an edible paper—and what could be more colorful than a comic section salad.

The census discloses that there are 101 men for every 100 women in the country—which may justify at least one John Barrymore.

German Conquests — Step By Step — 1938 - 1941

Nazi Victory Depends On Invasion

WASHINGTON — Despite all the concentration of interest in the "Battle of the Atlantic" it is the considered view of most experts here, both British and American, that Germany cannot win the war in the Atlantic in 1941. The only way Germany can win in 1941 is by a successful invasion of Britain.

Success by the Germans in the "Battle of the Atlantic" might easily win the war for Hitler—but it could not possibly be before some time well along in 1942 at the earliest. That could be attained only by increasing, and increasing heavily, the rate of ship sinkings.

AT PRESENT the rate is about 5,000 tons a year. The British are reproducing about one third of that amount. At the present rate, making full allowance for bombing of British shipyards. It is expected that by this fall the United States will be turning out ships at a rate of about one-half of present losses. It is hoped by further increases in U. S. production that production will equal losses toward the end of 1942.

Meanwhile the U. S. patrol of the western Atlantic, which will cut down, it is figured, depredations by raiders so far as American supplies to Britain are concerned, and increased efficiency in attacks on submarines and defense against aircraft, may possibly reduce that 5,000,000-ton-a-year rate.

It is just as possible, however, that German efficiency will increase the rate. Nobody knows the answer to that. Perhaps the most intelligent way to figure is that the two things will offset each other, and that the rate of sinkings will continue at the present rate, which will mean a continual net loss of nearly one million tons a year over everything Britain and the U. S. can produce for some time ahead.

BUT that is not nearly enough to win the war for Germany in the Atlantic—that is without a successful invasion of Britain. Despite all the talk about starving Britain, this is impossible for some time to come. For example, the average Frenchman, who eats considerably more bread than his English or American brother, would be flabbergasted to know that up to now there has been no rationing of bread in Britain. Or of potatoes!

In short, the present British diet is not calculated to appeal to a lady who is worrying about her weight, or a man who wants to keep looking fit despite the protruding corpulence of middle age. They would find themselves limited sharply on meat, eggs and butter, but given all the starches they could consume.

Nor has there been any necessity so far for limiting the British quota of vegetables. No vegetables are rationed, and the supply is reported as excellent. This would not appeal much, of course, to any Frenchman or American, as both have decided aversions to the British methods of cooking vegetables.

The danger of the "Battle of the Atlantic"—should the Germans succeed in sharply raising the amount of tonnage they are sinking—lies in 1942, when curtailment of raw materials may seriously affect the war effort of Britain toward the end of that year.

This situation is plenty grave, it is admitted, without silly talk about starving Britain out this year.

Life Does Go On!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

ANOTHER LETTER, typical of hundreds that come sniveling over the desk these days. This one is from a Nice Lady. Member of one of our Best Old Families who, like all her breed, is having the Screaming Meemies about the dreadful Changes which are happening these days. 'N' how on earth we are ever going to get back again to the Good Old days.

To which there is just one answer—

LADY, WE AIN'T.

Those Good Old Days for which you yearn are deadlier than the dodo . . . more obsolete than Queen Victoria's bustle. They may have been grand while they lasted, though I have my doubts. But they're gone with the wind now and all the tears and curses can never whistle them back.

And personally, I think it's a swell break for us all. Life stops unless it keeps moving. No era lasts for long without going stagnant. Our only chance of survival depends on change . . . change that shakes us to the very roots.

That goes for our private program as well as for our public welfare. Lives that are lived in constant comfort and security die still-born. They have never really existed.

Only those lives which know the constant ferment of quest, rebellion, struggle and privation retain their zest and elasticity. Only the social order which gets kicked in the teeth every so often has vision and spirit.

We're blaming Hitler for the present change. Well, I'm as willing to cuss Hitler as the next one. Maybe more willing. But I'm not dumb enough to think that strutting little insect hung this mess on our necks. We were due for it, even if Hitler had never been born.

We were due for it because our old "design for living" had grown too limited, too stupid.

We were due for it because we, ourselves, had become too selfish and smug and greedy.

It was time for the world to die, and rise again. And we just happen to be in at the funeral! And I repeat, I think it's a swell break for all of us.

That isn't cynicism. My heart bleeds, for so shall be a delightful, as every decent person's, agonies, as every decent person's, must, at the pain and terror of this transition. Also, my purely material self hollers its head off at the thought of the price we'll all have to pay for it. Youth drafted . . . taxes yanked from our unwilling bankrolls . . . maybe the very dirt beneath our feet commandeered. All of which drags moans of anguish from me just as it does from you. And I mean moans.

BUT A NEW LIFE HAS ALWAYS MEANT MOANS. YOU CAN'T BE BORN AGAIN WITHOUT CONSIDERABLE MISERY AND SACRIFICE. AND IF IT COMES TO LYING IN A RUT WITH A LOT OF LOVELY MEMORIES . . . OR RISKING THE HAZARDS AND HEAVENS OF A NEW BIRTH . . . I'M FOR BEING REBORN, EVERY TIME.

For I believe in Life. I believe that Life goes on . . . through heartbreaks and horrors, through changes and catastrophes, into ever greater and more glorious dimensions. And often, in these black hours when everything else fails me, I cling to that one fact and find its strength refining my blood.

LIFE CANNOT FAIL. LIFE DOES GO ON! I'LL GO ON WITH IT!

Washington Merry-Go-Round

British Predicament Swings FDR From Opposition to Convoy Idea

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—White House advisers who have talked with the president about the war over a period of months find that he has followed a fairly consistent course regarding convoys.

Shortly after the election, when the Duke of Windsor visited the president on his yacht near the Bahamas, Roosevelt was definitely against convoys.

And even last month, when every member of the cabinet favored using the U. S. navy to protect British merchant ships, the president still was against it. His cabinet and congressional leaders wanted him to move under his power as commander-in-chief, but Roosevelt opposed.

The thing that seems to stick in the president's mind is the manner in which his old chief, Woodrow Wilson, was criticized for dragging the country into war after his re-election. Roosevelt has dreaded incurring the same stigma. But meanwhile two things have happened which appear likely to catapult the president into action whether he likes it or not.

One is the disastrous predicament of the British. Two is realization that the system of patrolling the North Atlantic is going to be more difficult than originally supposed.

There are only about 40 U. S. warships available for patrol work, allowing for those which must put into port for periodic refueling and overhauling. This means that to patrol an area 2,000 miles long and about 45 miles wide (90,000 square miles) each vessel must patrol about 2,200 square miles.

This can be done very easily by airplanes, but not by surface ships. So far, however, the navy has only enough airplane carriers to station perhaps one carrier in the North Atlantic.

Hitler Won't Wait.

IN TIME, and with the availability of more airplane carriers, this type of patrolling can be most effective. But time is of the essence. And the fate of Britain will not wait.

In fact, confidential reports which the president has received from U. S. observers abroad give an increasingly gloomy picture—unless the United States goes a lot further than the lend-lease bill. There are even some observers who urge an outright declaration of war in order to bolster British morale.

Such a declaration, they emphasize, would reverberate also upon the morale of the German people, who remember all too well what happened in the last war after the United States entered. The president does not go as far as these advisers, but he has been swinging around, at last, to outright and open convoys.

He continues to believe, more decidedly than ever, that the United States must preserve the British fleet as the first line of American defense—if it does not want to have Germany as a neighbor in South America and around the Panama Canal.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Unlike the Six Brown Brothers, the Four King Sisters are really sisters . . . Their names are Alyce, Donna, Louise and Yvonne . . . Though they are known for their harmony singing on the air, on records, and with Alvino Rey's orchestra, they are authorities on Mormonism and the Church of the Latter Day Saints.

Their uncle is Senator William H. King of Utah. Their grandfather was Perley P. Pratt, world traveler and missionary who preached Mormonism in England and Australia. He was killed by a mob in the midwest 80 years ago.

Alvino, who is 25 and the oldest of the sisters, is married to Alvino Rey, the orchestra leader. Alyce, whose birthday is Aug. 14, is 23. Donna is 21, and Yvonne, the baby, is 19.

When they are in the East they live in a big house at Englewood, New Jersey, but their real home is in California. Adhering rigidly to tenets of their faith, they neither drink nor smoke. Each first Sunday in the month is a fast day, and the money thus saved on food is given to charity. At the moment they are on Broadway in one of the major picture houses. They like it here but grow weary explaining that the Mormons stonned having more than one wife 80 years ago.

than from any of his own observers who have gone overseas.

Menzies left Australia more than two months ago, flew to Egypt, spent some time in Libya, a week with Australian troops in the eastern Mediterranean, flew to England, and during the past six weeks has been in daily touch with Churchill and the war cabinet.

He has a complete picture of the shipping losses, the effect of air raids, the chances of British survival in the Mediterranean, and an estimate of British chances for the future. Furthermore, he is likely to do more plain speaking to the American people than an Englishman would.

Only 46 years old, Menzies has a reputation for forthright speaking and a sharp wit. After the last election in Australia, Menzies was approached by a representative of the opposition press, who said: "In selecting your cabinet, I suppose you will go down to Melbourne to consult the powerful interests which control you."

With a flash, Menzies retorted: "Yes, of course I shall. But please keep my wife's name out of public discussion."

African Outpost.

IT HASN'T been announced, but a direct radio circuit has been established by the U. S. government between New York and Brazzaville, French Equatorial Africa, an area occupied by General Charles de Gaulle's Free French forces.

Brazzaville is south of Dakar, nearest African point to South America and of great strategic importance. Dakar is held by the Vichy government, but it has long been suspected that the Nazis have a secret air base there. Purpose of the new Brazzaville-New York radio tie-up is to enable this government to keep a closer check on military moves in West Africa.

Another significant change in radio communications occurred in Iceland, which the British occupied after the Nazis grabbed Norway. To prevent German agents from sending coded messages, the British took over all radio transmitters in Iceland and all outgoing communications are now relayed through London. Previously, Iceland was linked directly with New York.

"Iron Pants" Johnson.

CHALK up another bonehead play to Major General "Pa" Watson, most intimate White House secretary, for refusing to renew General "Iron Pants" Johnson's reserve commission in the army. The move struck a sour note in the country.

"Iron Pants" is mercurial, critical, frequently full of unadulterated baloney. But as a soldier he is loyal, and once called in the service would have been more loyal than certain officers in the army today who don't seem to care how much they criticize their commander-in-chief under their breath. What General Johnson says, at least he says in black and white.

Major General Watson, who apparently took the initiative in firing Johnson, once was bawled out by the ex-NRA chief and told that he should not have rated higher than a corporal.

Note—If General Johnson had been called into the regular army he would have had to forego an annual salary of around $50,000 from his newspaper column, which he said he was willing to do.

THE OTHER DAY, when the air just beneath the running water. They had the pungency and tang of spring. The plastic mud rose above my soles and penetrated the narrow spaces between my toes. It soothed and blessed my senses even more delightfully than the moist dirt of the field. I think every person who normally wears shoes should try this primitive pleasure once a year.

When I finally moved on, the imprint of my own bare feet was close beside the ones my three small boys had made.

COMPANION OF KING CAROL'S REALLY ELENA

Doesn't Know Where She Got Name of 'Magda' and She's NOT Short.

By JOHN EVANS
(Chief of Associated Press Foreign Service)

ABOARD THE SS EXCAMBION, at Sea—There is no "Magda" Lupescu.

The companion of ex-King Carol in his 10 years on the throne of Rumania and in exile was named Elena and she has no other name. Who first called her Magda and why neither she nor Carol knows. She "hinks" French newspapers first used the name Magda through carelessness or ignorance.

Since Carol never mentioned her and never publicly replied to attacks on her, her true name never was known and apparently she remained in such discreet obscurity throughout the 16 years of her friendship with the Rumanian monarch that her personality and appearance likewise were masked from the public.

Pictures and descriptions of her generally made her appear to be short, fat and flaming-haired, whereas in reality she is a tall, slender, cultured woman with soft reddish blonde hair.

Being on shipboard with her for a week I was anxious to learn what manner of person had inspired a king to remain loyal for so many years, often at great political and personal risk. I found an intellectual, charming, interesting woman with a certain odd beauty.

Mme. Lupescu, instead of being short, is five feet, eight inches tall and says she weighs 123 pounds. She seems rather frail but she says:

"I think I ski rather well, I play golf, I like walking and mountain-climbing. I ride horse-back, I like hunting and I play tennis."

"Can you beat the king at tennis?" I asked.

"Well, possibly. He hasn't played for a year. We will see."

She said Carol had neglected exercise in the last troubled year or two and ought to trim his weight a bit.

Speaking in French, Mme. Lupescu told frankly and easily of her life and likes.

"I know what often has been said of me but you can see for yourself that the picture the world has is not fair," she said.

Her eyes are dark green and her complexion is rather pale, protected from the sun as it is by Mme. Lupescu's tendency to wear large hats. She dislikes little pancake hats or any extreme fashions.

There are some lines of anxiety on her face and forehead but they are so faint as to be hardly noticed.

She agreed that women seldom tell their ages but didn't disagree with my calculation that she must be about 35 or 36, although she looks younger. She met Carol in Bucharest, 16 years ago, when she probably was about 20.

New Triangle Story.

Bette Davis and George Brent are together again in their first picture since "Dark Victory." Opening Saturday at the Ohio the duo is seen in "The Great Lie," an action-charged triangle story that also gives Mary Astor a generous role. Bette Davis plays a normal American girl in love with her childhood sweetheart, a government flyer. Competition enters with Mary Astor, a concert pianist, who leads Brent to the altar before her rival has a chance. Hattie McDaniel is in the cast.

Graft Expose.

Expose of graft and corruption in local government agencies "Strange Alibi," showing at the Madison also deals with the courageous few with no fear in the face of danger in apprehending the criminal. Specifically the story revolves around an earnest young detective and the perils of his profession. In the leading role is Arthur Kennedy who scored in "City for Conquest." Jonathan Hale, Joan Perry and Florence Bates are other players.

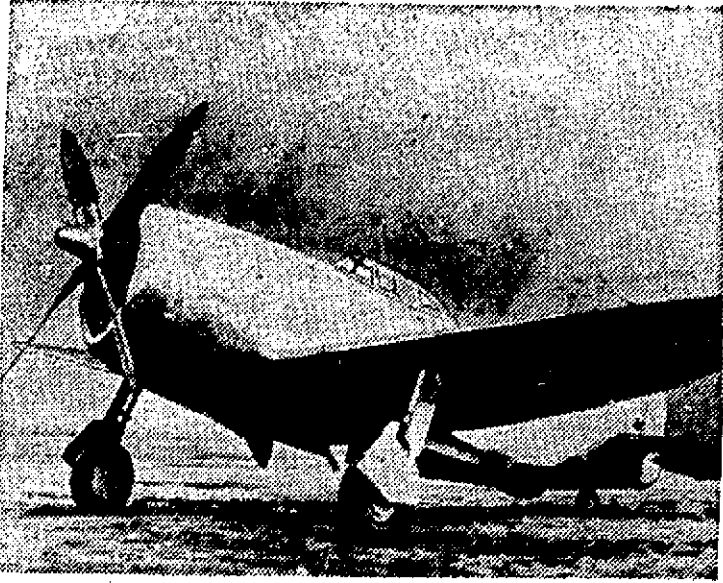

Gangland Comedy.

"Tall, Dark and Handsome," uproarious comedy of a gangster who didn't have the heart to kill, is showing at the Ritz with Cesar Romero in the title role. Falling in love with a department store nurse, Romero negotiates for her services for his "son." As he doesn't have a "son" he dispatches Milton Berle to find one. Charlotte Greenwood helps the comedy along as does Virginia Gilmore in the role of the nurse. "Lone Star Raiders," is the second attraction.

Desperate Plight.

Desperate people in a desperate plight are pictured in "Escape To Glory," the Pat O'Brien starring vehicle at the Park. Passengers on board a ship attacked by a submarine they decide to make the most of their last hours. Army Tests 'Best' Fighter

The Republic "Thunderbolt," reputed to be the "best" fighter plane ever built by any nation, is undergoing tests by the United States army air corps. Powered by a 2,000-horsepower engine, the XP-47B is capable of speeds of nearly 500 miles an hour. It carries heavy armament. The new fighter is pictured at Farmingdale, N. Y.

Western Crusade.

Battling for freedom of the press in the old frontier west, Johnny Mack Brown, becomes a hard-riding, two-gun crusader against a powerful outlaw group in "Boss of Bullion City," opening today at the Majestic. Brown plays a newspaper editor who uncovers the lawless operations of a money-mad sheriff and is aided by Fuzzy Knight, comedian, and Nell O'Day, western screen heroine. "Footlight Fever," a comedy concerning two stage producers in search of an "angel," is the co-attraction.

ANNOUNCES NEW OIL FOR AUTOS

The Shell Oil company, Inc., announced today that a new motor oil, perfected to give greater engine power and performance has gone on sale in Mansfield and other Ohio cities.

The company developed the oil to meet a new set of driving conditions which have become more prevalent in the last few months. Refined from the same base as aviation lubricants the new oil will be able to withstand far greater strain than present oils.

Reduction of oil consumption, elimination of corrosion and sludge formation tendencies are claimed as a few of the oil's qualities.

YOU'RE ENTITLED TO HAVE YOUR COFFEE CUSTOM GROUND

If you're going to get the full fine flavor out of coffee—and that's what you pay for—then your coffee must be ground to just the fineness required for your type of coffee pot. Or—to use the A&P term—it must be Custom Ground for you. Here's the reason: The different types of coffee pot bring hot water into contact with coffee for different lengths of time, as follows...

In Regular Pots, boiling water is in constant contact with coffee... hence, you should have A&P Coffee ground coarse. Percolators force the water over coffee only intermittently... so have your A&P Coffee ground medium. In Drip Pots, water goes through the grounds only once... so A&P Coffee should be ground fine. In Vacuum Pots, the contact of water and coffee is briefest of all... so have your A&P Coffee ground extra fine.

Be sure to tell the clerk in your A&P Coffee Department the type of coffee pot you use—then the fresh coffee beans will be Custom Ground exactly right, so that you'll get all the magnificent flavor.

There are three A&P Coffee blends to suit every taste; Eight O'Clock, mild and mellow; Red Circle, rich and full-bodied and Bokar, vigorous and winey. Try your favorite blend today.

CHAPTER XIV

When a man's wife could not come up to his expectations, wasn't there some cause for his drifting? If she and Hal were married, wouldn't there be too deep a bond between them to be broken? Their interest in each other had only been leading to a Utopia—it had never become solid, thank heaven.

So far as Lydia was concerned there must be some plausible reason for her being in the picture with Hal tonight. But—what?

Raye remembered now the way Hal and Lydia had looked at each other while dancing, their hands holding at that secluded table, and a little shudder of uncertainty ran through her.

Was she able, she asked herself now, to forgive Hal for playing fast and loose with her love—already? Was she joining Ruthie in letting Hal make a perfect sap of her?

Her shoulders slumped. She sighed and ran both hands slowly through her tangled curls. Dejectedly, she began to undress.

She let down the bed as carefully as possible but its legs banged loudly as they touched the floor. Probably the jar had disturbed the tenants in the apartment below. What a way to live! No wonder poor Aunt Susan had revolted!

At last, in a white silk nightgown, Raye stood before her bathroom mirror and began running a comb through her rebellious golden curls. She gazed with disapproval at her dark-circled eyes, decided that the little powder and rouge left on her wan face would have to remain. She was too exhausted in body and spirit to care about stimulating her complexion with lotions and cream tonight.

From now on she'd have to think less about personal beauty and more about business efficiency, she supposed. She had so much to learn—and up to date about all she knew was how to look glamorous. Bah! Glamour! What an idiot she'd been!

She jumped. Listened. Some one was knocking on her hall door!

Of all things—this time of night! Three o'clock! Perhaps the building was on fire! But no—the knock had been too stealthily for that.

Nervously, she flung on a blue satin robe, crept noiselessly into the living room and stood beside the door.

The knock came again, more insistent this time.

Heavens! All the tenants in the building would be aroused!

She put her lips to a crack in the door and asked, low, "Who's there?"

"It's Hal! Quick, Raye—let me in!"

Hal? Her heart sank. This was a calamity! She'd have to send him away immediately. In his right mind, he'd never embarrass her this way!

Her trembling fingers managed to turn the key in the lock. Cautiously, she opened the door.

She stood before Hal rigidly determined and whispered, "You're crazy to come here! You can't come in! Go home—I'll call you tomorrow!"

But before she realized what he was about, Hal had shoved her roughly aside, staggered into the room and shut the door behind him.

"Raye—we've got to settle things! I—I love you!"

He suddenly weaved toward her and she stepped back thoroughly frightened. There was a look in his bleary eyes that terrified her.

Then, as if he could no longer uphold the weight of his body, he sank into the nearest chair, clutching its arms to steady himself.

Raye knew this was no time for argument, so she attempted gentle persuasion.

"See here, Hal, you're tired out—you didn't intend to come here. I know. You go home now and when you're feeling better, we'll talk over everything."

She was frantic but her voice did not betray her.

"Gotta settle things—now," he mumbled.

Raye was thoroughly frightened now.

"Hal—you're crazy! Hal—you must go!"

He made no attempt to get up from the armchair. She began to fear that he was beyond helping himself.

"Please, Hal. Do you realize the position you're putting me in?"

By tomorrow when he was sober, she knew he would have all sorts of explanations for this inexcusable behavior. Even so, she knew she never again would think she loved him.

Spurred by her fears, she said with determination, "Now—get out—get out!"

He leered up at her in dull astonishment, a wave of anger crossing his flushed sullen face.

"You'll pay—you'll pay for this!" he threatened, getting laboriously to his feet. "No woman can—can double-cross me!"

He staggered toward the door, which Raye held open. She managed to give him a quick shove that sent him stumbling into the hall. She quickly closed the door, frantically hoping that he wouldn't break his neck getting downstairs.

But in the middle of her half-relieved sigh, she heard a peculiar muffled sound. Then something like the thump of a body on the hall floor.

"Oh, what could she do now?" Hal Bedford, too intoxicated to find his way home, had apparently decided to sleep just outside her door! A fine scandal this would create!

Even so, he was better outside than inside her apartment.

But now she heard a low moan. Clutched with fear and a foreboding of disaster, she dared to open the door a mere crack and peer out into the dimly lit hall.

The motionless Hal lay before her, face downward on the floor. He lay so still it was uncanny.

Something told Raye that even an inebriated man would never lie in such a position.

Without hesitation and wholly disregarding consequences, she stepped into the hall and knelt beside him.

She gave a horrified gasp. She leaped frantically to her feet. By the faint hall light, she saw a crimson trickle from the bullet hole in his tweed sport coat between his shoulder blades. Hal Bedford had been shot.

Panic stricken, Raye glanced up and down the hall. To all appearances, no other tenants had been about to witness this tragedy and whoever shot Hal had vanished completely and safely from sight.

Who could have dared to do so frightful a thing to Hal, who could have had any reason to hurt him—perhaps to—kill him?

Raye was trembling violently. She desperately needed help. But which way should she turn? She had to do something about Hal before he passed out—he was still breathing.

Besides, she had to get him away from the prying eyes of other tenants in the building who might have heard something of all this.

Had Raye been in a more rational state of mind, she would have realized that this was exactly what should not be done. She never would have acted as impulsively as she did that fateful night when she nearly lost her reason trying to cover up things.

She shoved her apartment door wide open. She clutched Hal's legs with both hands, and finally got him inside. Quickly she shut and locked the door.

She put a pillow carefully under his head, then rushed to her telephone and dialed Dr. Holbrook's residence. He was the first physician she thought of, because he had treated her for minor ailments over a period of years. He was a middle-aged, kindly man with a large practice and, in this emergency, Raye could not have appealed in a better direction.

What construction Dr. Holbrook would put upon the peculiar situation she now was in, did not enter her mind. Nor that she was in a peculiar position. All she thought of was Hal. Not that she wished to save him for herself, or, for that matter, anyone else, but she couldn't let a man die under her very eyes without raising a hand to help him.

Dr. Holbrook promised to come over immediately, and she prayed that Hal wouldn't die before he arrived.

In mad haste, she tore up sheets for the bandages. She went into the hall with cloths and water and tried to wash away the trail of crimson leading into her apartment. She deduced that anyone walking through the dimly lit hall would not be apt to notice the spot on the wine-colored carpet. She thought of Ruthie—Ruthie who must be notified of Hal's accident. But how could she be reached?

Raye repressed a shudder and knelt down by Hal. Nervously, she began searching his pockets. Under the circumstances, she thought, anything was excusable—even going through an unconscious man's private papers.

She found a note and quickly unfolded it, hoping it was a message from Ruthie.

But she read, "See you tonight."

It was signed "Lydia."

No information of value here. Only that Lydia had apparently made tonight's date with Hal for a purpose and he had willingly agreed to it. She found cigarettes, matches, a bunch of keys, a pen.

At last she came across a yellow envelope containing a telegram.

"Arriving Reno 10:10 a. m. Ruthie," was the message she read.

So! Ruthie had actually gone to Reno! This was news! Only a short few hours ago it would have made her souring happy, but now it scarcely touched her consciousness. Why hadn't Hal told her where Ruthie had gone?

She shivered, breathed a prayer of thankfulness. Evidently Hal Bedford had not intended to tell her—he had other plans; he was rotten to the core. And what she had felt for him could never have been love. She fully realized this, at last. She barely had pity for him at the moment, and if he ever were well again, she would everlastingly loathe him.

She had just finished replacing the articles in Hal's pockets when the doctor knocked Broadway Futurama.

(To give you a rough idea of what a Broadway column will read like 20 or 30 years from now. A very rough idea.)

ARLINE JUDGE almost got married again yesterday. Al-most again today. . . . John L. Lewis is threatening a third party. . . . The Jack Benny-Fred Allen-Bob Hope-Bing Crosby picture will be released as a serial. The dialogue ran over an hour longer than the picture. HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—It isn't every day a movie hero lives up to his movie role but one of those days is here.

The hero is George Montgomery, the picture is "The Cowboy and the Blonde," and the parallel between real and reel life is marked.

Montgomery came down from a Montana ranch and, having a fine physique and a handsome face and an easy stance on horses, he landed in pictures. In the movie he comes over from an Arizona ranch and, for the same reasons, gets a chance at pictures.

In real and reel, he was an embarrassingly bad actor. In the bits they gave him to do, he has been handsome and stiff and self-conscious. In the movie, he is put through one screen test after another, to see if he has possibilities.

In the movie, having a cowboy candidate for the screen, they test him first in evening clothes, next in a Tarzan tiger skin, in every other conceivable costume. He's terrible in any clothes until somebody happily thinks of testing him as a cowboy. He clicks. (If you think this is far-fetched, remember that Clark Gable, when first tested at M-G-M, was clad in a South Sea island loin cloth with a flower behind his ear.)

In the movie, it's love that works the miracle. George is in love with the temperamental steller hellein, Crystal Wayne (Mary Beth Hughes). When he gets a test with Crystal, his awkwardness disappears and he acts "natural."

In real life, it wasn't love. It was probably Ray McCarey's direction which included a preliminary course in seeing Gary Cooper movies. "Don't copy him," McCarey told George, "but be as natural as he is."

James Allan Porter, Mansfield youth at the University of Kentucky, taking over the post of treasurer of the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity. He is the son of E. A. Porter, 334 Forest avenue. . . . Principal Harry J. Dotson of John Simpson junior high school calling attention to a misplaced word on a placard over a hobby show exhibit. . . . Billy Conn, who has been trying to buy Jack Dempsey's cat-ery ever since his retirement from the ring, will learn here that the Manassa Mauler has turned over the restaurant to his two daughters, Joan and Barbara Dempsey, who are just out of Bryn Mawr. LOWER HOUSE WORKS TOWARD ADJOURNMENT

Seeks to Wind Up Business By Saturday Night; Senate To Meet Next Week.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The Republican leadership of the Ohio house of representatives strove today to clear up all its important work by tomorrow night, while the senate arranged for sessions next week. Speaker William M. McCulloch said the house expected to return next week only to act on senate amendments to major legislation. Before recessing for the week-end, however, he hoped to see the house dispose of two controversial proposals already approved by the senate: the unemployment insurance liberalization and the bill to raise safety standards of coal mines.

Gov. John W. Bricker was reported to have expressed the wish that an unemployment insurance and mine safety bill be enacted into law.

Informed sources said he also supported Frank E. Whittemore, Republican floor leader in the senate, who feels the legislature should extend its activities until at least next Tuesday to do a good job.

Still pending in the senate is a house joint resolution proposing that the legislature quit work May 8 and adjourn sine die May 20. Eighteen bills were on the house calendar today and 10 on the senate worksheet.

The house, working last night, passed the state defense council bill with two votes to spare after eliminating the emergency clause. The measure returns to the senate for concurrence in an amendment authorizing the governor to establish local defense councils.

The state council would help coordinate activities of industry, labor, civilians and public officials in behalf of defense. A bill which would have authorized the state highway director to keep secret the estimated cost of projects until bids were received was defeated by the house. Democrats contended it would be impossible to maintain secrecy and that estimates would "leak out" to favored friends of the administration.

One of the purposes of the chapter water safety program is to "Teach every child to swim before he or she is 12 years of age."

GUARD SHIPPING ON GREAT LAKES

Coast Guard Expands Peacetime Operations to Halt Harbor Sabotage.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The coast guard expanded its normal peacetime operations today to protect Great Lakes shipping and harbors against sabotage and espionage. The recently authorized coast guard reserve has enlarged the force for closer "scrutiny" of vessels, cargoes, crews and other facilities provided under the espionage act of June 15, 1917.

Armament on coast guard boats has been increased. Commander E. M. Zoole, chief of staff in the Cleveland district, declined to give details, but said "naturally in time of emergency our arms have been augmented."

Zoole's command, which includes all the lakes except Michigan, will pay particular attention to Sault Ste. Marie, Detroit, Cleveland, Toledo, Ashtabula, Buffalo, Erie, Oswego and Rochester because of their importance in national defense.

The Chicago station, headquarters for Lake Michigan, is using nine fully armed vessels to examine craft near Chicago, Milwaukee, Green Bay, Gary, East Chicago and Indiana Harbor. Searches are being made for cameras and similar equipment.

Port captains, appointed under the act which enabled coast guardsmen to board foreign ships in U. S. ports, also are reporting on other harbor pollution which is undesirable.

Halifax Leaves

Chicago on Tour Of Middle West

CHICAGO—(AP)—Lord Halifax, the British ambassador, and Lady Halifax embarked today on the second stage of a tour in which they hoped to learn the attitude of the middle west toward the European war and American aid to Britain.

Anti-war pickets paraded before the hotel in which he made the first formal speech of his seven-day tour, predicting the help of the United States in "translating their generosity and goodwill into the sinews of war." would bring ultimate victory to "our common cause."

Halifax told members of the commercial club of Chicago last night that no one knows where Hitler will strike next, but that "unless and until he can sap the might of Britain he will still be faced with sea power and industrial power and they will ultimately have the last word."

"We shall have many disappointments and many sorrows," the ambassador said. "But we are completely convinced that the large and final decisive factors are on our side and provided we hold firm as we shall, and provided you help us as you will, I am completely confident that we can bring our common cause to victory."

GUILD HAS SESSION LOUDONVILLE—The young people's World Wide Guild of the Baptist church held a meeting recently at the home of Miss Mabel Sellers. Mrs. W. McFarland was co-hostess.

MANSFIELDERS ATTEND STATE MEETING ON SERVICE CLUB PLAN

Representatives of six Mansfield service organizations were in Columbus today for a state-wide meeting with like organizations cooperating in the program recently set up by the newly created United Service Organizations for Defense, Inc.

This program was established to serve the recreational, welfare and spiritual needs of young men in military camp communities and of young men and women in areas of defense industry.

The cooperating agencies, asked by the government to cooperate in such a program, are: the Young Men's Christian association, National Catholic Community Service, Salvation Army, Young Women's Christian association, Jewish Welfare board and the National Travelers' Aid association.

Calling for the erection of 339 service clubs adjacent to camps, naval stations and defense industries throughout the United States the program will be financed as far as the buildings are concerned by the government. Co-ordinating agencies will provide their own programs in these buildings and will also cooperate with local groups to marshal all community resources for the maintenance of morale.

One of these service clubs may be located in Mansfield, John G. Routzon, Chamber of Commerce secretary, advises. Routzon attended the meeting today for although the Chamber of Commerce is not one of the direct agencies, it will furnish meeting places and do clerical work for the local organizations once the latter are effected.

It is likely that a meeting of Mansfield agency representatives will be called next week and a plan of work discussed, Routzon said. National officers of the United Service organization, headed by Walter Hoving, president, were in Columbus today to explain the work of the unit to Ohio representatives of co-ordinating agencies.

Mansfield representatives included: Miss Margaret West and Mrs. R. G. Averill, Y. W. C. A.; Msgr. R. C. Goebel, Catholic Community Service; Rabbi D. Rub. Jewish Welfare board; Mrs. John Pierce and Adjt. Paul Hoffman, Salvation Army, and Ralph Chapman, Y. M. C. A.

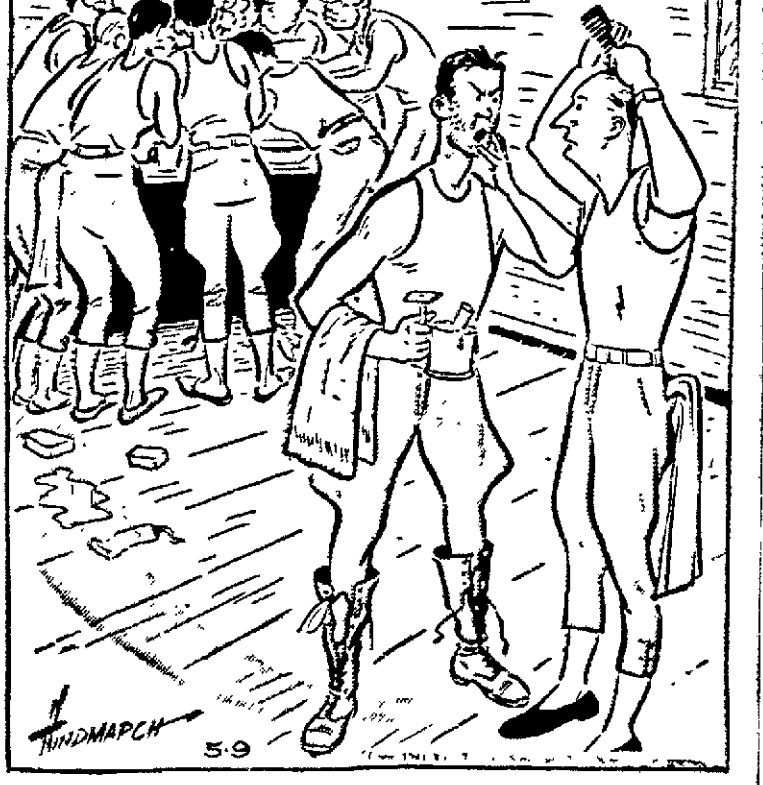

Survivors are his widow, Jennie and two foster-daughters, Mrs. Harold Gaul, of Mansfield, and Mrs. Victor Whitmore, of Nova, O. Also surviving are one brother, James Zimmerman and a sister, Mrs. W. O. Burkholder, both of Mansfield, and five grandchildren.

The body was taken to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. Rev. Paul H. Saleste will officiate. Burial will be in St. Peter's cemetery, in Washington township.

INJURED IN CRASH

GALION—Mrs. F. W. Leich, Shelby, wife of a former pastor of the First Reformed church, of Galion, suffered a head injury and several fractured ribs and is confined to Mercy hospital in Tiffin. She was injured in an automobile accident near Tiffin, Wednesday.

Laff-a-Day

Every Senior Girl Scout from northwestern Ohio visiting Mansfield for a conference Saturday will know what interesting lapel gadgets and name tags can be made from corks, paints and crepe paper after they receive the favors designed by Mansfield Troop No. 7. Marjorie Wentz was chairman of the "lapel workshop" which turned out 200 favors in anticipation of tomorrow's attendance. Kathryn Ann Fensch designed the red, white and blue programs that will be distributed.

Mansfield's keen-eyed coppers are giving their papers practice these days in the development of quick, sure vision. They're hunting mushrooms, and as fast as one springs up they pounce on it. It's a contest. The score board now shows at the top of the list: Ernest Fuller, identification officer, who insists he doesn't use the Bertillon system to identify the fungi; Detective Lee Remy and Patrolman Howard Schuck, who came back yesterday with a peck, while Remy was lugging seven mushrooms home.

Mt. Vernon is the latest to join cities looking up Mansfield as a "test tube" for parking meters. Paul Lord, president of Mt. Vernon's city council, today requested Council Clerk William J. Beer, Jr., to provide Mt. Vernon with data concerning public sentiment toward the meters here. Mt. Vernon is considering installation of meters to solve parking problems there.

John N. Rees, Lexington high school coach, is scheduled to go to the army for a year of training shortly after school is out this month, but he is going to be sure of a job when he returns. The Lexington board of education has awarded him a two-year contract and granted him a year's leave of absence during his training period. City and county school officials said more than a dozen teachers in Mansfield and Richland county schools are expected to be called to the army during the summer.

POSSES SEEK MANIAC WHO KILLED WOMAN

Officers Fear Hunchback Will Slay Brother Whom He Kidnaped In West.

(By International News Service) SAN BERNARDINO, Cal.—A gigantic manhunt was underway today in the Mesquite desert country of southern California for a homicidal maniac who shot his 19-year-old sister-in-law to death, perhaps fatally wounded her girl companion and then kidnaped his own brother.

Heavily armed posses, ready to shoot on sight, were assigned to hunt the killer, identified as Albert Wells, 31, undersized, deformed ex-convict on parole. As the search got under way, officers expressed belief that Wells might harm his brother, Raymond Wells.

The slaying occurred late Wednesday night, on the desert in San Bernardino county, near Devore. Wells, according to the officers, without provocation murdered his sister-in-law, Mrs. Jean Wells, 19, of San Bernardino, then turned his gun on Miss Rose Destree, 17.

Wells then placed in the arms of the dead woman her 13-month-old daughter, climbed into his coupe, and returned to San Bernardino, where he was believed to have kidnaped Raymond Wells, and dropped from sight.

The baby was unharmed. The story of the murder of Mrs. Wells was told by the Destree girl, who crawled a quarter of a mile for aid after Wells wounded her in the abdomen and fled, apparently believing that she, too, was dead. Miss Destree said that Wells blamed his brother and Mrs. Wells because his half-sister, with whom he had been living, refused to continue to keep house for him.

After the murder Wells took up his position at the entrance to the railroad shops in San Bernardino where Raymond worked, and when the railroad man's shift ended he joined his brother, unaware of the murder.

Informed by Miss Destree that Wells had threatened to "kill the whole Wells tribe," officers placed all other members of the family under police protection.

Wells has a police record dating back to 1926, officers said. The man, a slight hunchback, was twice sentenced to state prisons for highway robbery and was known in Folsom prison as a trouble maker. He was released on parole in 1939, and has reported regularly to parole officers in Los Angeles since his release.

Richland Rural Residents Have 'Clean Up' Drive

Following the example of Mansfield, Richland county's rural sections are having their own Clean-up campaign covering the two-week period from May 5 to May 17. J. Alden Payn, acting county farm security administration supervisor, announced today.

The campaign is being sponsored by the federal farm security administration which has loaned money to a number of county farmers to finance purchase of equipment and livestock.

Every farm family in the county is being urged to dispose of rubbish, plant a neat garden and flower bed, repair walks and porches, and paint houses and barns.

The county FSA headquarters in the Richland Trust building has 150 clean-up quiz sheets which are available to farmers who request them.

"Clean farms are usually prosperous ones that operators can be proud of," Payne said.

The present show features Madame Jeanne's delight in the texture of straws, ranging as it does, from the use of loose shiny coils of straw braid to the finest and most pliable silk straws.

The large hat is a capeline of natural Tuscan straw with the dipping front in which is nestled a turquoise green velvet bow that picks up the same color in the multi-colored print dress. It is a lovely hat for garden parties and afternoon teas.

Another unusual model is the bonnet reminiscent of the hats worn by Lady Hamilton. It is made of black shiny straw with a wide black moire taffeta ribbon band that falls in a loop over the ears set off with iridescent boutonnières. This was designed to be worn with a black tailored suit.

The other black hat shown above is a sailor of shiny straw with a heavy turned brim. A black and white dotted veil covers it all and ties in a huge bow under the chin.

The fourth hat is fresh and charming and is very smart when worn with summer print dresses. It is a wreath of white daisies on a small white straw bonnet that sits far back on the head and gives ample space to show the pompadour in front. Over the flower trim is a deftly draped veil which comes down over the face. This is a youthful and becoming hat that will win compliments from the man in your life when he takes you dinner dancing.

The annual school picnic will be held at North park June 10. W. W. Blausner received the room attendance prize.

A quintette composed of John Kovacs, Robert Schrack, Vincent Menneti, Jack Oberlin and Dan Chervinski sang several selections, accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Workman at the piano.

"Pitfalls of Love" (A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers) By ADELE GARRISON

My pulses surged upward in a rush of relief when I saw Mary's eyes kindling with welcome for me, as she dashed across the floor and threw her arms around me in an ecstatic "bear hug."

Whatever romantic emotions her leading man Stephen Redfield, might be cherishing for her, they had not touched her heart at all. I could have taken my oath on that. So I put aside for future consideration the problem of Noel's reaction to Redfield's admiration for his wife, with which I knew I would have to deal sooner or later. Noel had appealed to me, though not putting his prayer concretely, and I must not fail him.

"You old darling!" Mary apostrophized me with her usual exaggerated enthusiasm. She always does everything. Dicky once said, "as if she is waving a flag over it."

"I'm so thrilled over your coming," she bubbled on. "You haven't been here for ages, and I was desolated that I couldn't come to meet you. But I couldn't very well leave. We're giving the party for Steve—Noel and I. It's his birthday—Steve's, I mean, not Noel's—" she giggled mischievously, "so I couldn't very well leave. But I know, my sweet husband took splendid care of you, didn't you, darling?"

Noel is ill at ease.

"Well! She was all in one piece when I ushered her in here ten minutes ago." He had a jealous man's propensity for exaggeration, I noticed. I don't know what shape she's in now," he added.

"Auntie Madge!" Mary exclaimed in quick contrition. "You mean you've been standing here all this time. Noel, you brute, why didn't you come and tell me?"

Mary Flares Up.

"Because, my dear, that is one of the things that simply isn't done," he said—"interrupting your dance."

"What rot!" she flashed back. "This wasn't a rehearsal."

"So I gathered," he said stiffly, in almost inaudible tones.

"Now, just what do you mean by that?" Mary queried, her tones as muted as his. But I touched her arm, for I saw several pairs of curious eyes turned upon us.

"I must see you, immediately," I said.

Her beautiful brows knitted thoughtfully.

"Can't it wait until the party is over?" she asked.

"Till daylight doth appear?" Noel quoted. But I gave Mary no chance to answer him.

"I'm sorry, dear," I said firmly, "but my errand is most important. And I shall have to ask you to give me much of your time as I need. I hope it won't be much."

ONE TYPE of thing seems to happen too often to be mere happenstance. You will see a careful player figure out a very sound safety play, one which looks as if it is destined to give up a very possible trick for the purpose of guarding him against the loss of two other tricks. But the play unexpectedly gives him an entirely different reward from anything he had foreseen, perhaps through a singleton high honor dropping or something else equally unusual or bizarre.
